Dissertation Topic "An Hedonic Price Model of Nursing Homes in the State of Florida"

Master of Science in Economics, Florida State University, 1987

Bachelor of Arts in History, Florida State University, 1983

(Emphasis in Latin American History)

Academic and Research Appointments:

Clemson University

Hayek Visiting Scholar at the Clemson Institute for the Study of Capitalism

Academic Year 2012-2013 (August 15, 2012 - May 15, 2013)

Florida Gulf Coast University

4) BB&T Distinguished Professor of Free Enterprise, 2009 - present

3) Full Professor of Finance & Economics, 2007 - 2008

2) Associate Professor of Finance & Economics, 2002 – 2007

1) Hired as: Associate Professor of Economics with Joint Appointment in the College of Arts and Sciences and the College of Business, 1997 - 2002

I filled the first position in Economics at Florida Gulf Coast University in a Joint-Appointment between the College of Business and the College of Arts and Sciences. This included being responsible for developing new interdisciplinary courses in the social sciences: Issues in Politics and Economics (Fall 1997) and The Senior Seminar in the Social Sciences (Spring 1999). Furthermore, I was responsible for teaching undergraduate courses within the field of Economics for both the College of Business and the College of Arts and Sciences.

Beginning in August of 1999 my teaching assignment was moved, in its entirety, to the Department of Finance in the College of Business. Responsible for teaching undergraduate courses within the field of Finance: Financial Management (Intermediate Corporate Finance), Capital and Money Markets (undergraduate), Capital and Money Markets (graduate.) Ongoing economics assignments include: Intermediate Price Theory, Economics of Strategy (Executive MBA) and Foundations of Economics (Regular MBA). Joint Appointment dropped by Florida Gulf Coast University in Academic Year 2002-2003 – assigned solely to the College of Business. In 2005 the Economics Department moved from the College of Arts and Sciences to the College of Business. Primary teaching assignments switched to: Intermediate Price Theory, Money and Capital Markets, and Economics of Strategy (Executive MBA) and Foundations of Economics (MBA).

I was promoted to full professor in the Finance Department. In the fall of 2009 I was named the BB&T Distinguished Professor of Free Enterprise and my position was moved to the Economics and Finance Department. Duties include: managing the BB&T Free Enterprise Speaker Series (fall and spring lectures), community activities promoting free enterprise, administering grants, coordinating and managing employees, and teaching ECP 3009 – Moral Foundations & Capitalism at least once each academic year.
